- Contact DIX
- Joining Information
- Service Information
- Connected Networks
- Other European IX's

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

UNI•C

(illustration)

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

Contact DIX

Joining Information

Service Information

Connected Networks

Other European IX's

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

diX

Contact DIX

Joining Information

Service Information

Connected Networks

Other European IX's

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

diX

Contact DIX

Joining Information

Service Information

Connected Networks

Other European IX's

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

DANISH INTERNET EXCHANGE POINT

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

UNI•C

DANISH INTERNET EXCHANCE POINT

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

UNI•C

DIX

UNI•C

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

Contact DIX

Joining Information

Service Information

Connected Networks

Other European IX's

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

DIX

DANISH INTERNET EXCHANGE POINT

Contact DIX

Joining Information

Service Information

Connected Networks

Other European IX's

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk

diX

Contact DIX ⌐

Joining Information ⌐

Service Information ⌐

Connected Networks ⌐

Other European IX's ⌐

The DIX is a facility operated by UNI-C at our Network Operations Center in Lyngby just north of Copenhagen, the capital in Denmark. Its purpose is to alleviate the exchange of datatraffic between networks that constitute the Danish part of the global Internet structure. The DIX was founded in May 1994 and has most of the Danish internet providers connected.

(illustration)

UNI•C

Mar. 22. 2000, Ole.Kjargaard@uni-c.dk